The Hawaii Floriculture & Nursery Association (HFNA) will host a Floral Design Workshop & Class to be held at Nani Mau Gardens. Canadian based AIFD floral designer Hitomi Gilliam will demonstrate how to create beautiful designs using Hawaii grown floriculture products, promoting our message to buy and use locally grown flowers and foliage. The demonstration will take place in the morning, after which a buffet lunch will be provided for the attendees.

The afternoon session of our workshop will allow participants to have hands-on experience in creating their own design pieces that will be on display at designated sites in Lili'uokalani Gardens. In partnership with the Friends of Lili'uokalani Gardens in Hilo, HFNA is celebrating the sesquicentennial celebration of the Japanese emigration into Hawaii (June 20, 1868). We ask that the participants take into consideration the sesquicentennial celebration theme while creating their design pieces. All flowers will be provided for the installations. On Sunday, October 28th, the public will tour the Gardens and vote on their favorite designs. The top 3 designs will be awarded prizes.

On Sunday, Ms. Gilliam and her team will create a substantial, long lasting multi-faceted floral art sculpture designed by Hitomi that will be installed in the Hawaii County Building atrium to help celebrate the Sesquicentennial celebration. The presentation of the Celebration Piece to the County and Friends of Lili'uokalani Gardens and the design awards will be held on Monday, October 29th, after which there will be a nursery bus tour.
